Gorham Plated Ware

which is as standard as "Sterling"

If the Government should ever create a standard for plated ware, Gorham plated ware would be more likely to exceed the law than to conform to it.

As evidence of this, you may be interested to know that Sterling Silver at Gorham's is a higher grade of silver than the word "Sterling" implies or requires.

Meanwhile, in the absence of Government regulation, you are dependent for the quality of plated ware upon the quality of the house which sells it.

We make Gorham Plated Ware with something of the excess of caution which induces some people to put excess postage on an important letter so as to be on the right side.

We plate it lavishly, so that it is not merely a superficial veneer of silver, but a deep, permanent incrustation which will successfully withstand the wear and tear of a lifetime.

It has the lustre of silver and the longevity of silver at a fraction of the cost
